Church Notes.

Mr. EDITOR: I read with great pleasure the account of the Laymen's Missionary movement, which materialized in such an inspiring meetings, in our town of Woodstock as were held on the 12 and 13th inst. They were among the very best men's meetings I ever attended.

Kindly allow me to add a word to what was so admirably said in the account of last week.

Through no failure to be attributed to the committee which had in hand the publication connected with these meetings, no report from the Episcopal church, appears on the card below, a statement of the contributions of the several congregations of our town and I ask you in justice to the loyal, liberal congregation I serve to publish the following that our christian brethren of all names, may rejoice with us, over what this congregation is doing. The card to which we refer read thus:

When he left home Friday morning he had no idea that his condition was serious, although he had had soreness in the region of his stomach for over ten days.
